

FREE BRADLEY MANNING NOW!

A 23-year-old Army intelligence analyst, Private First Class Bradley Manning faces decades in prison for allegedly leaking a video of a US helicopter attack that killed at least eleven Iraqi civilians to the website Wikileaks. In addition to this "Collateral Murder" video, Pfc. Manning is suspected of leaking the "Afghan War Diaries" – tens of thousands of battlefield reports that explicitly describe civilian deaths and cover-ups, corrupt officials, collusion with warlords, and a failing US/NATO war effort.

Manning has not yet been tried or convicted of any crime, but he's been incarcerated since May 2010. He is currently sitting in a prison in Quantico, VA, in solitary confinement. He is held inside his cell for 23 hours a day under constant surveillance. He has not ever been on suicide watch, but is not allowed to have sheets or a pillow.

We believe that without the efforts of people like Bradley Manning who risk prosecution to show the truth, the information we need to hold the U.S. government accountable may never be made public. The latest leak reveals evidence of war crimes. Yet no soldiers involved in the videotaped killings of civilians have faced charges. No top-level officials in the Bush and Obama administrations have been held accountable, or even investigated, for their roles in potential war crimes. But whistleblower Bradley Manning sits in jail.

If the military charges against him are accurate, they show that he had a reasonable belief that war crimes were being covered up, and that he took action based on a crisis of conscience. If Bradley Manning is indeed the source of these materials, the nation owes him our gratitude.

"Soldiers' sworn oath is to defend and support the Constitution. Bradley Manning has been defending and supporting our Constitution."

—Dan Ellsberg, Pentagon Papers whistle-blower
